

Nnamdi Agbanelo	Governor
-----------------	----------

I joined the Childwall Sports & Science Academy governor's team in June 2023, and I am really excited and proud to be part of the Childwall community.

Making a positive impact on the world and the people around me has always been a driving force for me throughout my career. Before joining the team, I worked as a communications expert, a creative artist, a journalist, and currently as a tutor at a sports academy where I tutor young people on sports media. I am also a tech expert. I have worked in the private sector, the public sector, and the educational sector.

One of my personal goals is to train and develop people, supporting them on their path to self-discovery. I look forward to working with the already successful team and the school community to improve lives and achieve even greater success and goals.
